Class 7

Literacy

This week we have finished reading the Snow Queen. The children have been making interesting predictions about what they think the characters said when Kay was rescued.

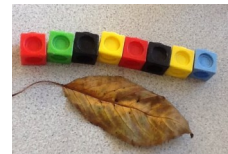

The children enjoyed watching the Snow Queen film and completing book reviews.

Numeracy

In Numeracy we have been working on length and height. Some of us have been learning:

- To compare length and height
- To measure using objects
- To measure using centimetres

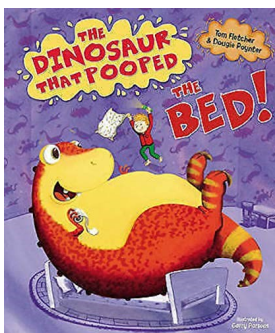

Topic

This week the children have continued our topic "Buildings". The children have been creating some of their own buildings using a range of recycled materials. They showed off their houses, churches, castles a bungalow on stilts and even a McDonald's restaurant.

The children also listened to facts about houses in China and how they typically look and differ from the houses we live in. The children answered some questions about houses in China and designed some of their own.

Storytime

This week our story has been "The dinosaur that pooped the bed!" by Tom Fletcher and Dougie Poynter.
