

Topic

This week the children have continued our new topic Scavengers and Settlers. This week the children have continued to learn about fossils and how fossils are formed. We have also learnt about how fossils help historians learn about the past. The children have also started to learn about early human beings. We have been exploring the theory of evolution and how humans have evolved over millions of years. This will continue next week.

Numeracy

This week in Numeracy the children started to learn about fractions. The children have been using pancakes and chocolate to represent different fractions.

Literacy

This week in Literacy the children have continued reading George's Marvellous Medicine by Rod Dahl. This week the children have been learning to summarise the story by creating their own hashtags for different passages. The children have worked extremely hard to explain their understanding and have done a great job. Next week we will work to create our very own medicine. Using bossy verbs to write instructions.
