

Topic

This week the children have continued our new topic, Feel the Force. The children have been learning about push and pull forces this week. The children experimented with push and pull forces and identified when push and pull forces were being used. The children then designed their own push and pull toy and identified how motion was applied to the toy. Next week the children will be experimenting and learning about buoyancy .

Numeracy

This week in Numeracy the children have completed our focus on shape and have started to learn about money. The children have been learning to identify coins and notes and have been learning to combine different amounts of money. This will continue next week.

Literacy

This week in Literacy the children been listening to, Iron Man by Ted Hughes. This week the children have been learning to create metaphors to describe the ironman. The children also wrote their first of the month about a short movie about escaping octopi.

Story Time

This week in story time the children have been listening to My Name is Cato.

Have a great weekend.

Have a great weekend